If the purchaser does not accept the goods on these terms they are at once to be returned. This does not mean that we lack confidence in the seeds we sell, but we have no control over the seeds after they leave our possession, especially as to methods of planting, cultivating and fertilizing, all of which are important factors in the success of any crop. Vegetables Are Health Builders

Fresh vegetables contain body-building minerals. To be healthy and strong, eat plenty of vegetables. The tremendous increase in the consumption of vegetables during the past decade is because medical science is teaching us to regard our vegetables in a new light apart from their tempting taste. Of the green vegetables, the best are spinach, swiss chard, cabbage, brussels sprouts, kale, endive, and the green tops of root vegetables, such as turnips, beets, radishes, etc., because the leaves contain iron, lime and other minerals. Root vegetables, such as carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips, potatoes, etc., should be eaten liberally because they act as bulk furnishing roughage, and also furnish minerals and some vitamins. Tomatoes and lettuce are also excellent diet as they contain vitamins, minerals and roughage. Vegetables should form the basis of human diet.

Reuter's Garden Peas

Culture: For fall planting in the South, Garden Peas should be sown early in September, especially the second early sorts. Extra early varieties, such as Reuter's Peerless Extra Early and Early Alaska can be sown through September and early October and will mature before frost. In Florida, South Texas, and along the Gulf Coast, they may be sown during any of the fall months, October and November being preferred. Tall varieties like Improved Telephone and Large White Marrowfats, need brushing or staking, although all varieties do better if staked up or brushed when 4 to 6 inches high. Plant in double rows 6 to 8 inches apart and $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 feet between the double rows. The peas will give quicker returns if covered only 1 inch deep and where earliness is most important they may be treated in that way. Larger pods and more of them will be produced if the seed be planted in trenches 3 to 6 inches deep and covered with only 1 or 2 inches of soil. When the plants are 5 to 6 inches high, fill the trench level with the surface. This will secure deep rooting, prevent mildew and prolong the bearing season. The crop should be gathered as fast as it is fit for use. If even a few pods begin to ripen, not only will new pods cease to form, but those partly advanced will stop growing. 2 pounds will plant 100 feet of row; $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 bushels will sow an acre.

Peerless Extra Early—No. 402—This is the earliest and most even strain of the extra early, prolific varieties. Choice Sweet Peas

We have found it advisable this season to make quite a number of changes in our assortment of Sweet Peas, especially the Early Flowering Spencer type. The varieties listed below are particularly fine, with blooms of good heavy texture on splendid long stems.

If you want to make the most of your Sweet Pea bed, ask for our booklet "The Best Way to Grow Sweet Peas in the South."

EARLY FLOWERING SPENCER

We consider this type the most adaptable for Southern planting, as it is a fast grower, coming into bloom from four to five weeks earlier than the late Spencer. In our mild Southern climate they will bloom profusely during the fall if planted in August-October.

NARCISSUS (Daffodils)

No garden would be complete without the lovely Narcissus. They seem to fit naturally into every need. Their large conspicuous, yet graceful flowers will add the finishing touch to your arrangement, no matter if the purpose is to bring colors to the borders and beds, or to add a little spring glory to your lily pond or rock garden. The flowers are highly prized for cut and are of lasting quality.

Narcissus are easily raised and they adapt themselves to almost any kind of soil as long as the drainage is not too poor. It is, however, well to remember that Narcissus should never be planted in freshly manured soil, as the manure will cause them to rot.

How to Order—

We will ship your Baby Chicks

C. O. D. if you wish. This permits you to order your chicks far in advance and then simply pay the Postman when he brings them. Or, you may send Money Order with your order. Be sure to state when you want the chicks. We will notify you about when they will arrive. Full instructions will be supplied you on how to care for them on arrival. When you send your order please specify a first and second choice of breeds in chicks. This is to save you delay. If we haven't chicks of your first breed selection, we can ship the breed you consider next best. We fill all orders just as soon after receipt as possible. Place your order early. The earlier we have your order, the better we can prepare to serve you at the proper time.

Reuter's Bred-To-Lay Baby Chicks Will Add To Your Profits

WITH their large, conspicuous heads of fragrant flowers, Hyacinths are among the showiest and most desirable of all bulbous plants. Their short, sturdy growth makes them especially well adapted for bedding purposes, but they are also extensively used for growing indoors in pots or pans.

We strongly advise our customers not to plant their Hyacinth bulbs too early. The temperature, as well as the soil during the month of October in this latitude, is generally too warm for successful planting. Set your bulbs out in November and December, when the weather is more uniformly cool, and far better results may be expected. We store our Hyacinth bulbs in cold storage, which allows them a resting period very similar to their dormant state during the winter months in more northern latitudes, and insures a far better start for the bulbs when set out in the late fall months.

Hyacinths will do well in any ordinary garden soil with the proper drainage, but delight in a rich, sandy loam. Do not use any fresh manure in your Hyacinth-beds, as the bulbs do not tolerate manure around the roots.

NOTE: Hyacinths have dropped considerably in price this year, and should now be within reach of every garden-lover. Remember the Hyacinths when placing your fall order.

Fragrant White Roman Hyacinths

French Roman Hyacinths

These delightful Hyacinths are early bloomers and particularly easy to grow. The best and the most popular of the group is the White-flowering variety, which produces from three to five graceful and very fragrant spikes of blooms to the bulb. They are all splendid for growing in indoor pots or pans, but may also be used to good advantage for planting outside in borders. Through successive plantings, with about two-week intervals, flowers may be had all through the late fall and winter months.
